Kentucky State University began as a small school for the training of black teachers for the black schools of Kentucky. The University was chartered in May 1886 as the State Normal School for Colored Persons, only the second state-supported institution of higher learning in Kentucky.

In 1890 the institution became a land-grant college and the departments of home economics, agriculture and mechanics were added to the school's curriculum. The school produced its first graduating class of five students in the spring of that year.

In 1902, the name was changed to Kentucky Normal and Industrial Institute for Colored Persons and in 1938 the school was named the Kentucky State College for Negroes. The Term "for Negroes" was dropped in 1952. Kentucky State College became a university in 1972, and in 1973 the first graduate students enrolled in its School of Public Affairs.

BRADFORD HALL

David H. Bradford was a professor and head of the department of history and government in 1935 and was later appointed the dean and registrar of Kentucky State College by President Rufus Atwood. Atwood gave Bradford the authority to direct academic changes on campus and Bradford was often left in charge of the college while Atwood was lobbying for financial support.

J.S. HATHAWAY HALL

J.S. Hathaway Hall was named after James Shelton Hathaway. He served as president of the State Normal School for Colored Persons (KSU) from 1900-1907 and the Ketunckey Normal and Industrial Institute for Colored Persons (KSU) from 1910-1912.

HUME HALL

Edgar Enoch Hume, a physician and legislator from Anderson County, Ky., was on the board of trustees of the State Normal School for Colored Persons (KUS) for 17 years and was an important figure in the passage of legislation that founded the school in 1883. He was also instrumental in securing funds for the school.

CHANDLER HALL

Mildred Chandler was the wife of Governor A.B. "Happy" Chandler. The school received one of its largest appropriations during the school's history. Mildred was also considered a generous donor to the college, for example, she made linen and silver available from the governor's mansion to be used for a dinner party welcoming Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority to the campus.

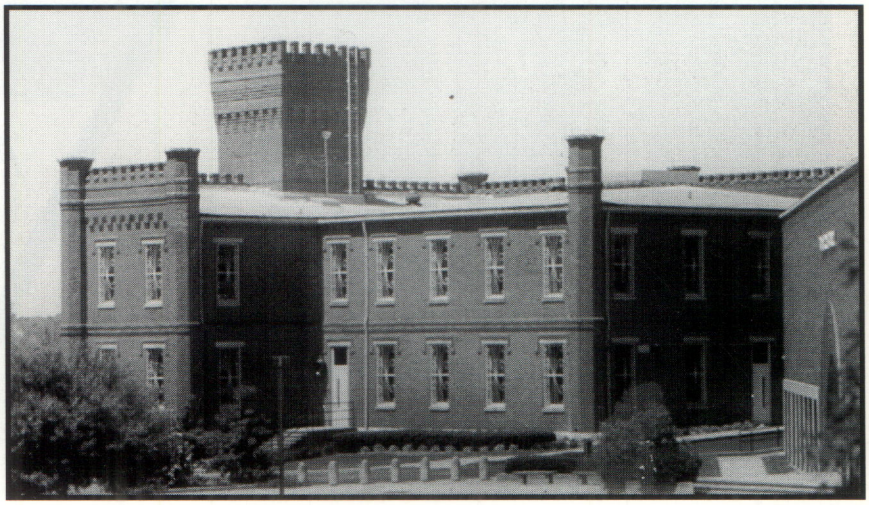

WILLIAM EXUM CENTER

Dr. William Exum was the chairman of the physical education department and athletic director. He was also the cross country coach that led KSU to the NCAA college division championship in 1964.

JACKSON HALL

Jackson Hall, formerly called Recitation Hall, was built in 1887 as the first building on the campus and was later named after the first president of the school. There is no cornerstone, nor any record of an architect. Early documents, dating back to 1886, show that the original funds to build the Hall totalled $10,000, of which $7,000 were used for construction.

President Mary L. Smith

President Smith Announces Retirement

During the April 18 Board of Regents meeting, Dr. Mary L. Smith announced her plans to retire when her current contract expires June 30, 1998.

Smith, the first female president of KSU, succeeded Raymond Burse under an interim capacity for 14 months, before being named president in 1991.

Who is behind this lady who wants to devote the remainder of her presidency to recruiting new students?

When Smith was growing up in the small town of Hazelhurst, Miss., she had no idea she would become president of a university. But 30 years, a doctorate and most of her life in education later, she has accomplished just that.

Smith always wanted to be independent, even as a child. "I hated asking my parents for money," she said. "I wanted to be independent."

Smith believes she is fortunate that her father valued education and insisted that his daughters, as well as sons, be educated. "My father was my first role model. I had no female role models. There weren't a lot of women leaders for young women to look up to."

Smith was quick to add that is not true today. She believes women have come a long way since the women's movement first started. "Definitely, women (of today) have more pride," she said. "When people can support themselves, they have more power. People willing to work, can accomplish anything."

Smith's accomplishments speak for themselves, but she says she doesn't like to dwell on what she's done for fear of losing sight of what still needs to be done. "Foremost, remember that you can become anything if you're willing to work for it. You must be hard-working, persistent and don't get upset the first time someone says no to you. Believe that you can accomplish your goals, then set about accomplishing them."

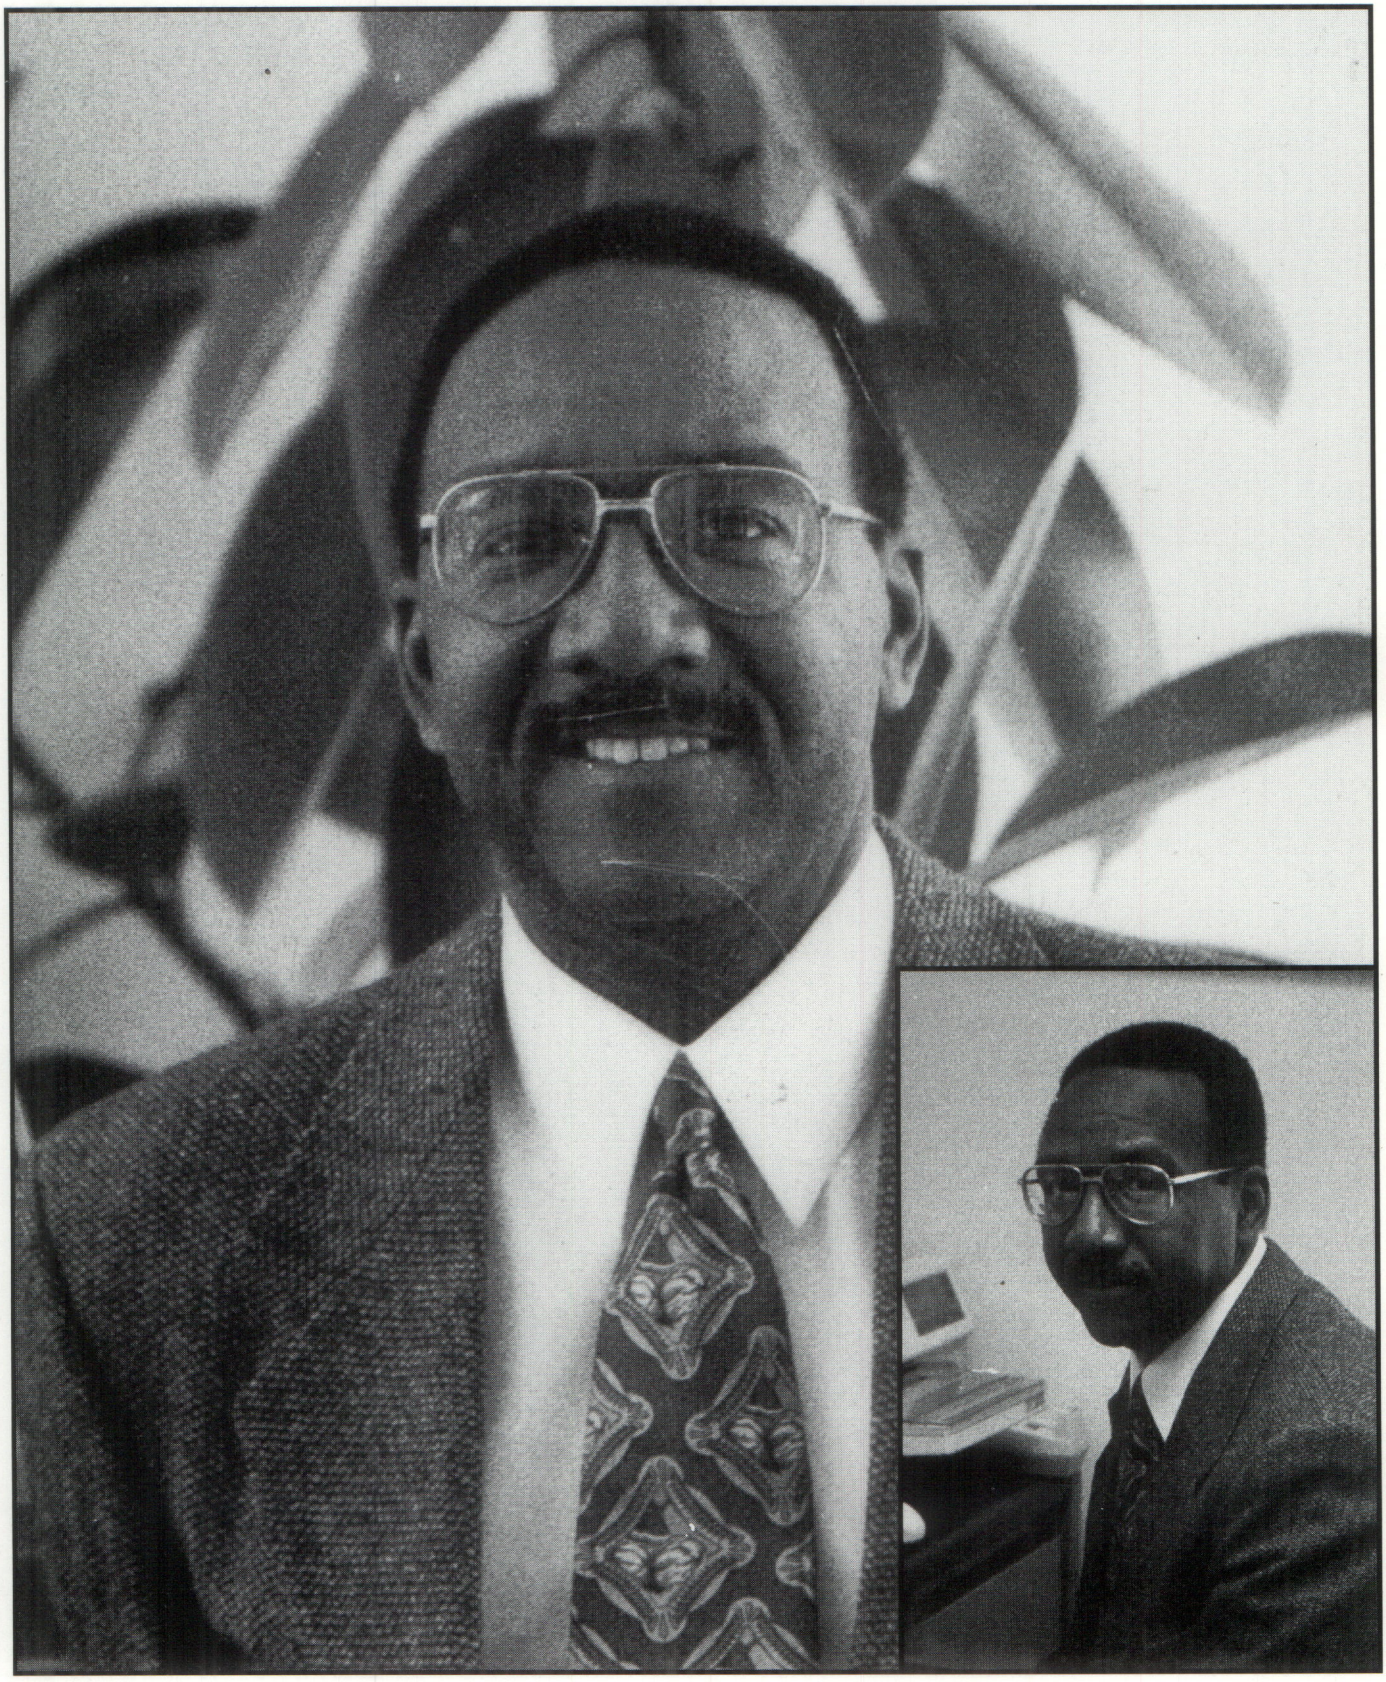

For Smith, retirement means a time for rest, a time for family and possibly time to initiate work on a writing project. She hopes to possibly write and publish a work on her experiences as a female university preident.

"There are a lot of people who don't know what it's like," said Smith. "They have no idea. It's very different. There are a lot of students in college and graduate school who aspire to be presidents. Maybe it can help somebody."

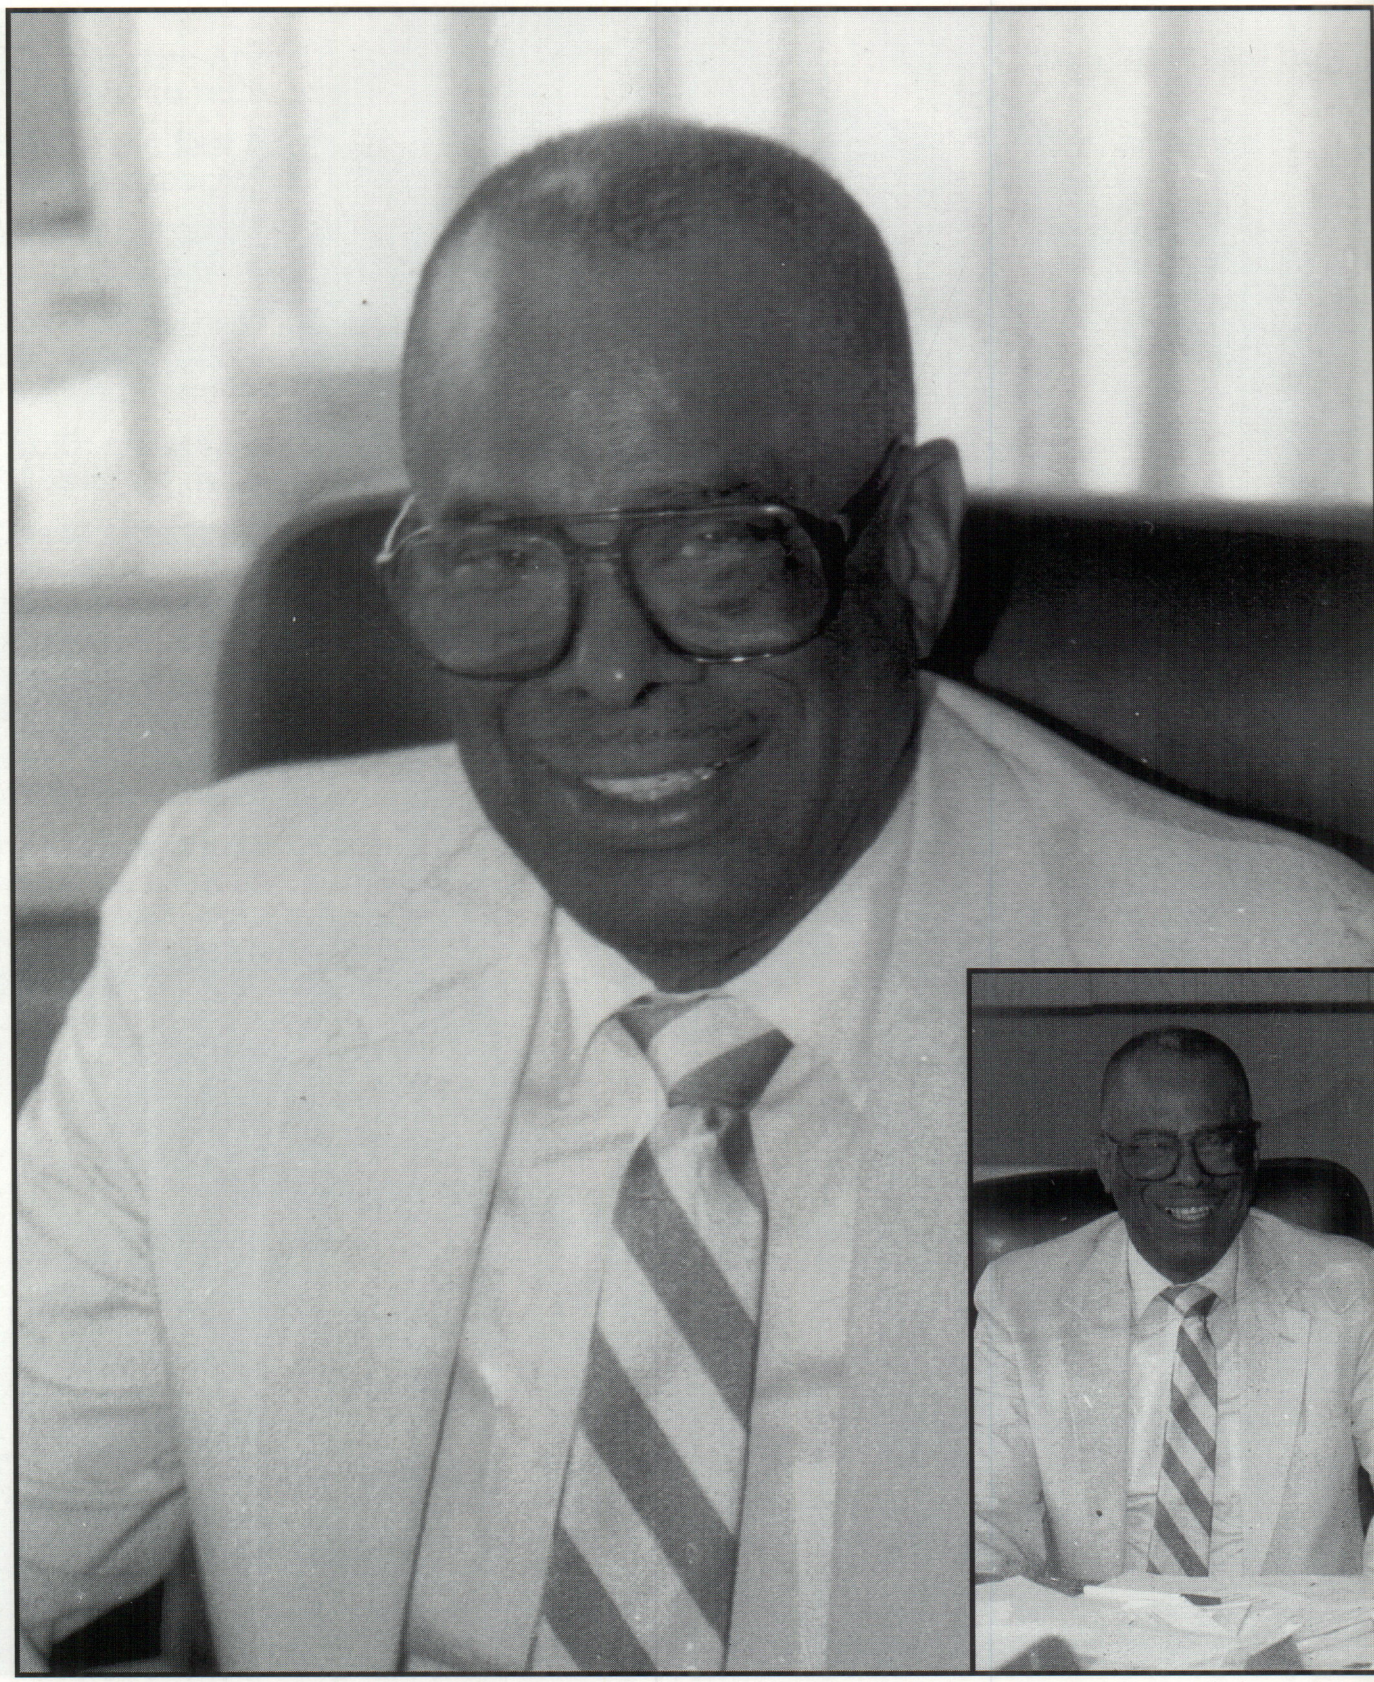

Whatever Smith sets her mind to do, it will be as successful as her past aspirations.

Doesn't matter if it's the hottest days of the summer or the coldest days of winter, there's always something to do on campus.

HOT FUN IN THE SUMMER

After spending a few hours on the grill and sharing stories of old, some students take a break for a fun game of double dutch, while another spends time with our next generation.

CAMPUS EVENTS

REGISTRATION

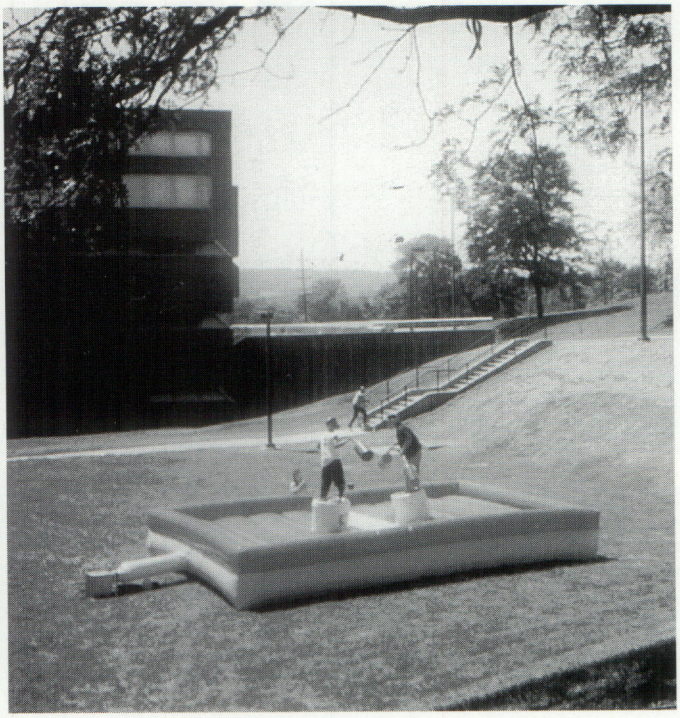

Registration may be seen as a time of short tempers, long lines and impatience, but KSU faculty and staff try to make the process a little easier for everyone.

WELCOME BACK TO SCHOOL WEEK

Welcome Week is a time for students to become acquainted with campus life, academics, clubs, organizations and have fun at the same time.

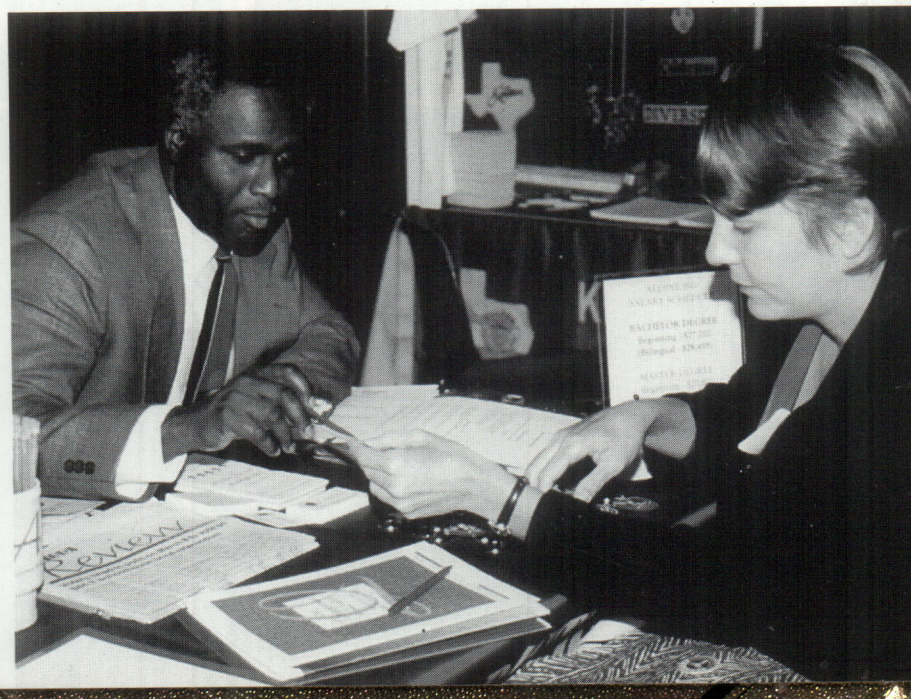

K-State students are priviledged to always have exciting events on campus.

KSU Commemorates Accomplishments of Whitney Young

On October 11, Kentucky State University's National Alumni Association conducted a site dedication ceremony for a statue of its alumnus Whitney M. Young during Homecoming festivities.

The statue will be unveiled during Homecoming 1997. Dr. Eleanor Young Love and Dr. Arnita Young Bosewell, sisters of Young and graduates of KSU, attended the ceremony along with sculptor Edward Hamilton.

Young was a 1941 graduate of KSU and became executive director of the National Urban League in 1961. From this position, Young intensified his call for the end of segregation and discrimination, the empowerment of black communities and the advancement of social and economic equality among all racial and ethnic groups. In 1969, he was awarded the nation's highest civilian honor, the Medal of Freedom.

The sculptor, Hamilton, is a native of Louisville. He was recently commissioned to do a memorial that will be located in Washington, D.C. depicting the black soldiers who fought for the Union during the Civil War.

HOMECOMING GAME
KSU vs LANE COLLEGE

KSU battled Lane College during the Homecoming Game. With less than three minutes left, the 'Breds led by two points, 19-17 after coming back from a 17-13 deficit. The Dragons blocked a punt and returned it for a touchdown with 2:54 to play, taking the lead 23-19, and the 'Breds were unable to answer.

The mighty Thorobreds played vigorously against Lane college attacking them high and low. Although they did not win the battle they did not lose the war. The 'Breds were 6-5 overall. Way to go Thorobreds!

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL TEAM

Over a period of four years, the women's basketball team found the ingredients for sucess: talent, determination and unity. It was never easy from the start, but from life's toils on and off the court, these ladies found the courage that made them legends. Together, they made it to the conference tournament leading in the Western Division of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SIAC) at 10-1 and then coming home as the SIAC National Tournament Champions.
But each player were already Champions . . . at heart.

CHRISTIAN, KEEP WALKING

Christian, keep walking
Tho' the road is dim,
Christian, keep walking
You are walking with Him.

Christian, keep walking
Although there are many rocks,
Christian, keep walking
God absorbs all the shocks.

Christian, keep walking
When your friends are few
Christian, keep walking
God is walking with you.

Christian, keep walking
When the devil's darts assail,
Christian, keep walking
God will never let you fail.

Christian, keep walking
When body nourishment recedes,
Christian, keep walking
For God shall supply your needs.

Christian, keep walking
When your earthly days are few,
Christian, keep walking
Heaven is ready for you.

Leola Hughes
March 8, 1972

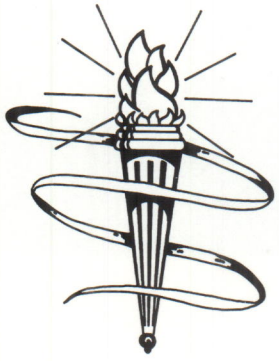

But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint.

— Isa. 40:31

I Can't Be Stopped

I am the best
not equal to, but better than the rest
I won't bend or break I'm made of steel
I won't step or fetch, you can't hurt my will
I refuse to let life pull me down
If I can't swim then let me drown
Don't call me soft don't call me weak
When you think I'm tired I'm at my peak
I can't be stopped I'm just that strong
If you think I'm weak you must be wrong.

I could run for years and never stop
I'll stay woke for months and never drop
I can't be beat my heart's too great
I will always come through and pull my weight
I am an eternal flame that will not expire
I'll go on and on and won't retire
I'm full of strength, bold and brave
I'll fight and fight and still won't quit
when floods flow and winds blow I'll stay lit.

LIFE A REFLECTION OF CHOICES

I Look and see a world corrupt
So I turn to face the sky.
I ask the divine
For some sort of sign
To tell me whose done
this and why.
Pollution in the atmoshere
Toxins aflame in the sea
Racism is taught
Justice is bought
While anger is swelling
in me.
I'm tired of viewing the carnage Left from countless disease and wars.
I can't understand
How the heart of man Came forth from a likeness of yours.
I come to you asking for knowledge
So that I might move on with my life.
I was put here to die
So please tell me why
I was put here amidst all your strife.
As I rose from my knees
I was frightened
By the presence of something supreme.
My legs buckled down
Then I fell to the ground
And my body prepared for a dream.
I spoke out to a mass full of nothing
All I saw was a solid black wall.
Then out the black
Someone yelled back
And this was his message to all:

You try to explain the world by what you can see with your eyes.
My truth is the base
For the human race
Yet its hidden beneath all your lies.
You fostered a blueprint for chaos
As you changed all my meanings for words.
You conquer a man
Then you steal all his land
With a rationale that's absurd.
The choices you make
are your own
I had nothing to do with your fall.
I gave you a place
Full of beauty and space
But you would not share
it all.

You rape your own
daughters and mothers
You kill your own sisters and brothers.
You'll worship a priest
That's full of the beast
After that, you will turn on each other.
I told you to love all your neighbors
And to tame all of your beastly behavior.
I sent you my son
For he was the one
I had chosen to come as your savior.
Your leaders decide to kill him
When he challenged their ways.
You sat on the fence
and just watched it commence
So your karma is living today.
I'm not the cause of your folly
Mankind has been cursed
by himself.
I just sat back
While you fell through the cracks
All the while you still blame someone else.
Life is a measure of time
Time is a measure of me.
Make the most of your time
And soon you will find What a pleasure your life can be.
When I opened my eyes
I was ready
To go out and do what I can.
I was blind as a slave
That was trapped in a cave.
But now, I can stand as a man.
It has been argued for thousands of years
That Life as we know it is hell.
But if this is true
I cannot blame you
Or the man locked away
in a cell.
My life is as bad as I've made it
Yet I managed to blame
someone else.
A world that denies is a world full of lies
And I want better things for myself

POETRY CORNER

My Life

As I looked over the scenes in my life
I heard laughter at the same time I saw tears
There were Mountains,
Valleys, troubles and strife
Stretched from East to West along the years
I reminisced on love given and received
It was all in the past
I saw the visions of things that I believed
The intangible, tangible at last
It was through this memorable scene
I came to a startling
conclusion
The visions I saw, what did they mean
Eternal life is not an illusion

Her

Her lips upon mine
Her hand holding mine
Her heart inside of me
Her love given to me
Her name rolling off my lips. Her soft voice in my ear
She is my own piece of heaven. Her absence my hell.

THE GARDEN OF LACE

Peace came to me in the garden
Where nature's lavish beauty has risen from the sod.
This makes me think that our Race is not far from God.
As I look at winding roads
over grass colored hills,
I take a walk in solitude
That uniquely fills my lonely heart with dreams so great.
I use this time by the garden gate
To meditate about happiness that will never fade,
Or think of the love of someone special (Whom I dare not say)
Whom I adore each and every day.
The garden is filled with sweet desire,
with hope, faith, and dreams so great.
This is my favorite place.
A place that fills my heart
With the promise of a better trace-a new life from the Garden of Lace.

Only U

Your warm embrace brings sunlight to my face, being with you all my worries seem to erase.
The caress of your hand, attention they easily demand.
Your eyes so entrancing as my body succumbs to their call,
Your warmth and trust, I feel it all.
Your voice is like cotton candy; soft, sweet, and what a treat.
Your lips are of the sweetest carmel apple found. I enjoy each KISS like a merry-go-round.
Your dark smooth skin is like mouth-watering chocolate, irrestible,
Soon my feelings will no longer be deniable.
You're so different but yet unique, at the sound of your name I get weak.
Nobody makes me feel the way you do, you're an original, only U.
Dedicated to Someone Special

America's Reality

Oh' say can you see
By the glowing crack pipe
Where so quiet we fell and our children stop dreaming
Who's broken moon and beaten stars
Through the rich man's meaningless fight
For society turns their head
As the boy of AIDS lies dead and the handgun's loud snare
A homeless veteran's broken wheelchair
Gave proof through the night
That our flag was never there
Oh' say will the souls of this stolen Land be saved
For the land of the thief and the home of the slaves

THE SANDS OF TIME

TRAPPED INSIDE, THE HOUR GLASS
AS I COUNT EACH GRAIN, OF SAND THAT PASS
MY DAYS ARE NUMBERED,
AS THESE PASSING STONES
ON THIS DARK ROAD. I'M NOT ALONE
MY EYES CAN'T SEE AS WELL AS MIND
PUTTING ALL WORRIES AND FEARS BEHIND
BECAUSE I KNOW WHO HOLD MY HAND
ALONG THIS PATH ASI COUNT THE SAND

An Exceptional K-State Alumnae who Forged Onward to Make her Race Move Upward

Leola Augusta Harris Hughes was the oldest of six children born to Zacheriah and Effie L. Staton Hughes. Leola aimed high at an early age to become a teacher and she also made a vow to send her sisters and brothers to college if they desired to go.

Leola obtained two years of high school at Columbia Jackman High School in Columbia, Ky. She then went to Lincoln Ridge High School and graduated as valedictorian of her class.

After obtaining a few college hours at Kentucky State College, she was given a certificate to teach. She then began to obtain her second goal of sending her siblings to school.

Her two brothers preferred to be farmers rather than teachers while the three girls took advantage of the opportunity to pursue higher education as their goal.

Leola made $39 per month and her brothers made less than that, but they all believed in the importance of higher education for their sisters, so they all made sacrifices to send their siblings to college.

Her sister, Emma, graduated from Kentucky State College in 1951. She taught five years at Greens Chapel, 14 years at Summer Shade in Metcalfe County and 18 1/2 years at Colonel William Casey in Adair County.

Her other sister, Christine, graduated from Kentucky State in 1953. She taught 33 years in Russell County at Crocus, Greens Chapel, Jamestown, Union Chapel, Salem and Russell Springs.

As a result of struggle, hardship and sickness, Leola finally reached her goal of sending all of her sisters to college when her last sister, Evelyn, graduated from Kentucky State in 1955. Evelyn taught 28 years in Adair County at Knifley, Kentucky, Colonel William Casey and John Adair.

By the time Evelyn graduated, Leola was striken with rheumatoid arthritis and she never did obtain her degree. She only needed six hours to finish, but she gave up her opportunity to get a degree when she decided to stay home and help her sickly mother take care of her aging 93 year old mother.

Leola was able to teach for 21 years at Mt. Vernon, Flatwood, Absner, Dudley and Knifley in Adair County and Greens Chapel in Russell County.

She exemplifies the phrase onward and upward. The sacrifies she endured made her persevere to uplift her family and race.

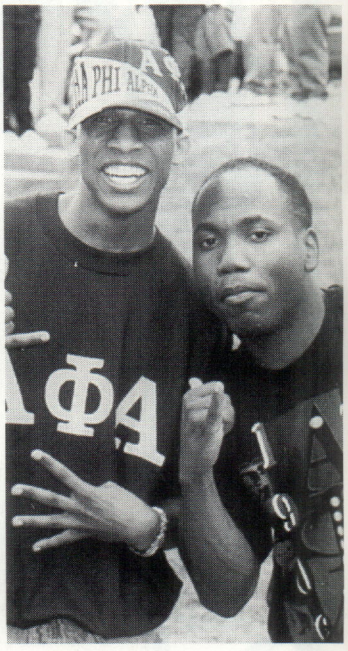

CLUBS & ORGANIZATIONS

ALPHA PHI ALPHA

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., the first Black Greek lettered organization, was founded by Henry Callis, Charles Chapman, Eugene Jones, George Biddle Kelley, Nathaniel Murray, & Vernon Tandy on December 4, 1906 at Cornell University in Ithaca, New York.

The major focus of Alpha Phi Alpha is keeping traditions and at the same time pressing on to higher goals and hold to their motto, "First of all, servants of all, we shall transcend all!"

Something in common: Not only are these two in the same fraternity, they also share the same first name- Corey. Right-Corey Hart. Left- Corey Brown.

Today, there are over 700 undergraduate and graduate chapters of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraterntiy, Inc. around the world. Each one is fully dedicated to promoting scholarship and service. Amongst black males in the professional ranks, Alpha men constitute 75% of all lawyers, 60% of all doctors and 65% of all dentists. In addition, over 95% of all Historically Black Colleges have had Alpha men as presidents.

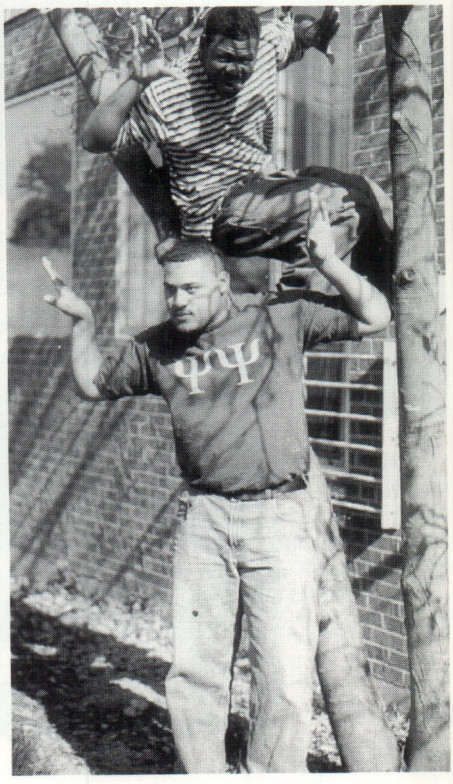

OMEGA PSI PHI

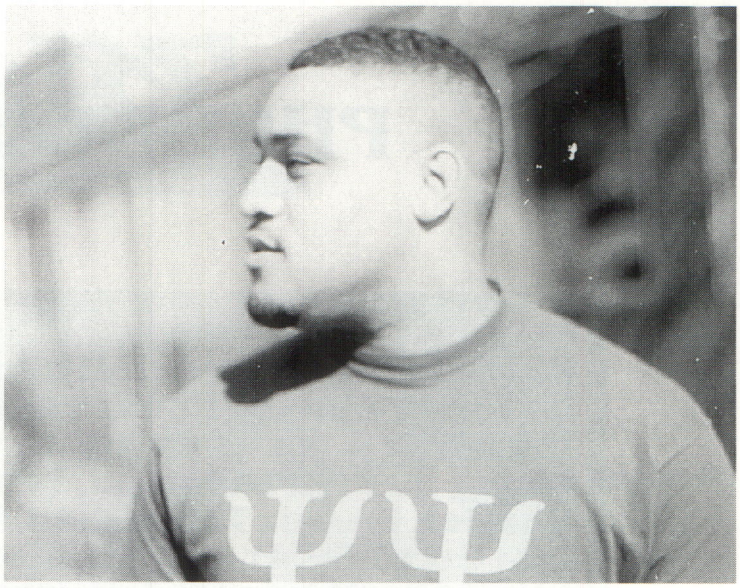

The Omega Psi Phi Fraternity was founded on November 17, 1911 at Howard University in Washington D.C. The founders of the fraternity were three students: Edgar Love, Osscar Cooper and Frank Coleman. Their motto is, "Friendship is essential to the soul."

In the continuing support of African American education, the fraternity gives a gift of $50,000 each year to the United Negro College Fund (UNCF). The fraternity has supported the UNCF since 1955.

PHI BETA SIGMA

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., was founded on the campus of Howard University in Washington D.C. on January 9, 1914, by three young men: A. Langston, Lenorad Morse and Charles Brown. These men felt a need for a new Greek letter organization embracing the idea of brotherfood, scholarship and service. The fraternity's motto is, "Culture for Service and Service for Humanity."

With the assistance of brothers Charles Taylor and A. Langston, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., was founded on January 16, 1920, also at Howard University. This joining together created the bond of the only established brother and sister Greek letter organizations.

ΦΒΣ

KAPPA ALPHA PSI

Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc., was founded on the campus of Indiana University on January 5, 1911. Orginally charted and incorporated Kappa Alpha Nu on April 15, 1911, the name was officially changed to Kappa Alpha Psi on April 15, 1915.

The fraternity is predomianantly African American whose fundamental purpose is achievement. Kappa Alpha Psi seeks to train its membership, particularly undergraduates, for a leadership in their respective communities and the attainment of a high degree of excellence in their academic pursuits.

Brothers, tonight look outside your window towards the heavens & "Behold the only thing greater than yourself."

DELTA SIGMA THETA

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. was founded in 1913 at Howard University in Wasington D.C. by twenty-two young women who were inspired by concern for social welfare, academic excellence and cultural enrichment. They committed themselves to social consciousness and public service.

The major focus of the organization is educational developement, economical development, physical and mental health, political awareness and international involvement.

SIGMA GAMMA RHO

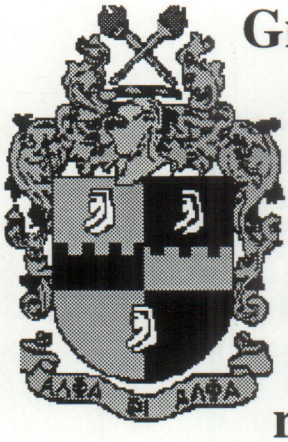

Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority was organized in 1922 on the campus of Butler University, in Indianapolis, Ind. This organization was founded on November 12, 1922 by Nannie Mae Johnson, Mary Lou Little, Vivian Maubury, Bessie Martin, Cubena McClure, Hattie Redford and Dorothy Whiteside.

On December 30, 1929, Sigma Gamma Rho was incorporated to provide permanence and a central office to serve all chapters.

The Sigma Gamma Rho organization is dedicated to the encouragement and promotion of high scholastic attainment, community service and the improvement of the quality of our lives and the society in which we live.

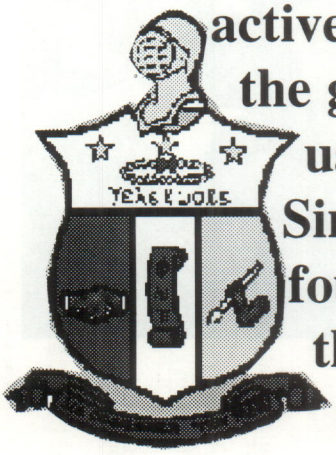

Greek-letter fraternities and sororities have played a major role in American college life since 1776. African American college fraternities and sororities did not emerge until the early 1900's. Unlike their white counterparts, the African American organizations have remained very active at the graduate level. Since their founding, these organizations have played a major role in the cultural, social and civic life of their communities. The member organizations of the National Pan-Hellenic Council are: Alpha Kappa Alpha, Delta Sigma Theta, Zeta Phi Beta, Sigma Gamma Rho, Alpha Phi Alpha, Kappa Alpha Psi, Omega Psi Phi and Phi Begta Sigma.

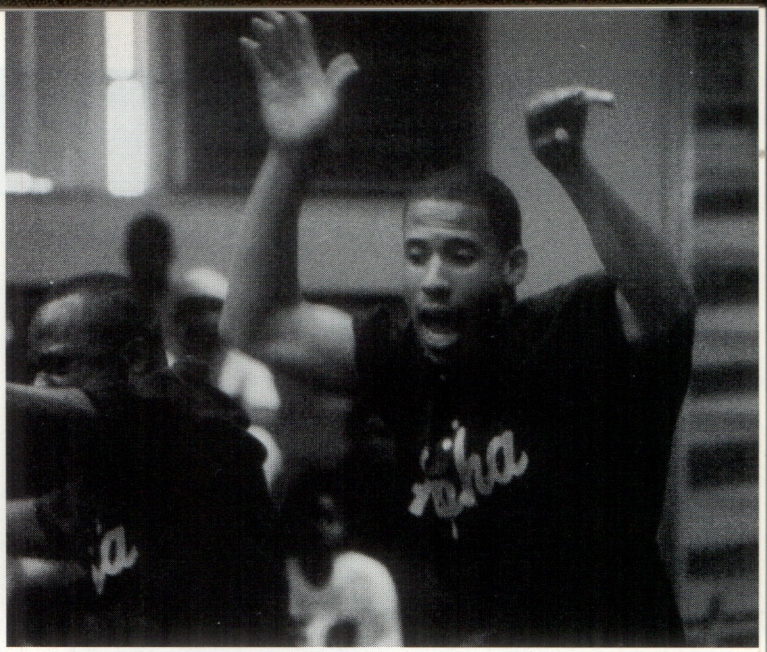

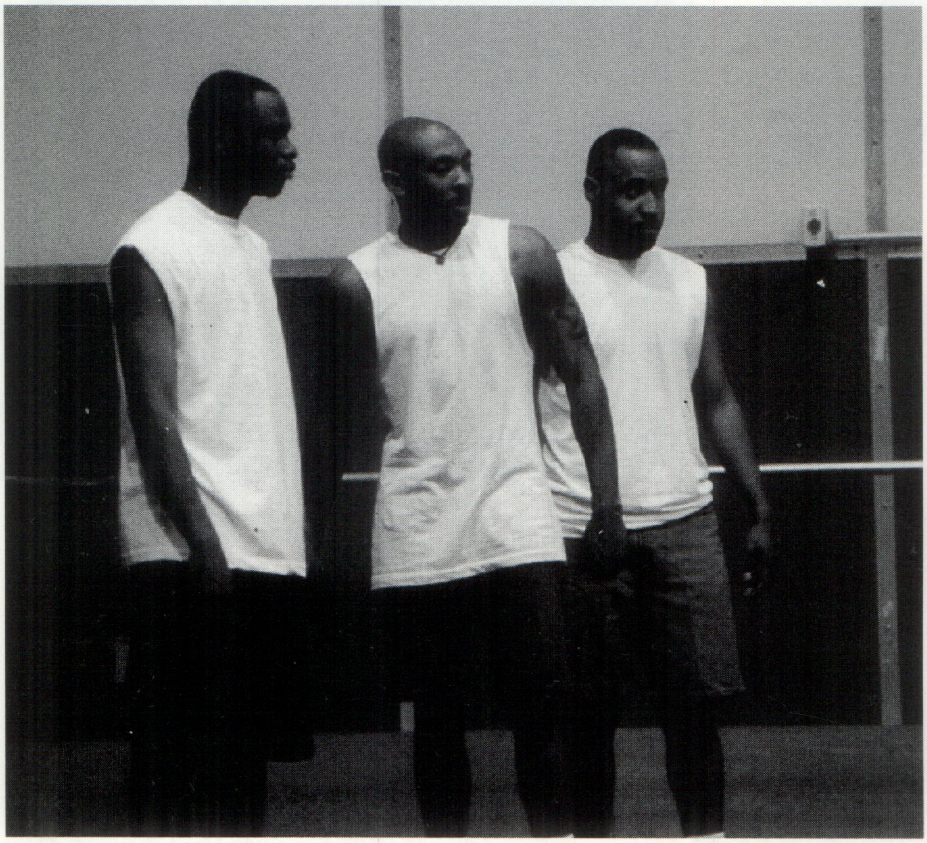

It's Fast. It's Easy. It Saves.

COME IN TO LEARN
GO OUT TO SERVE.

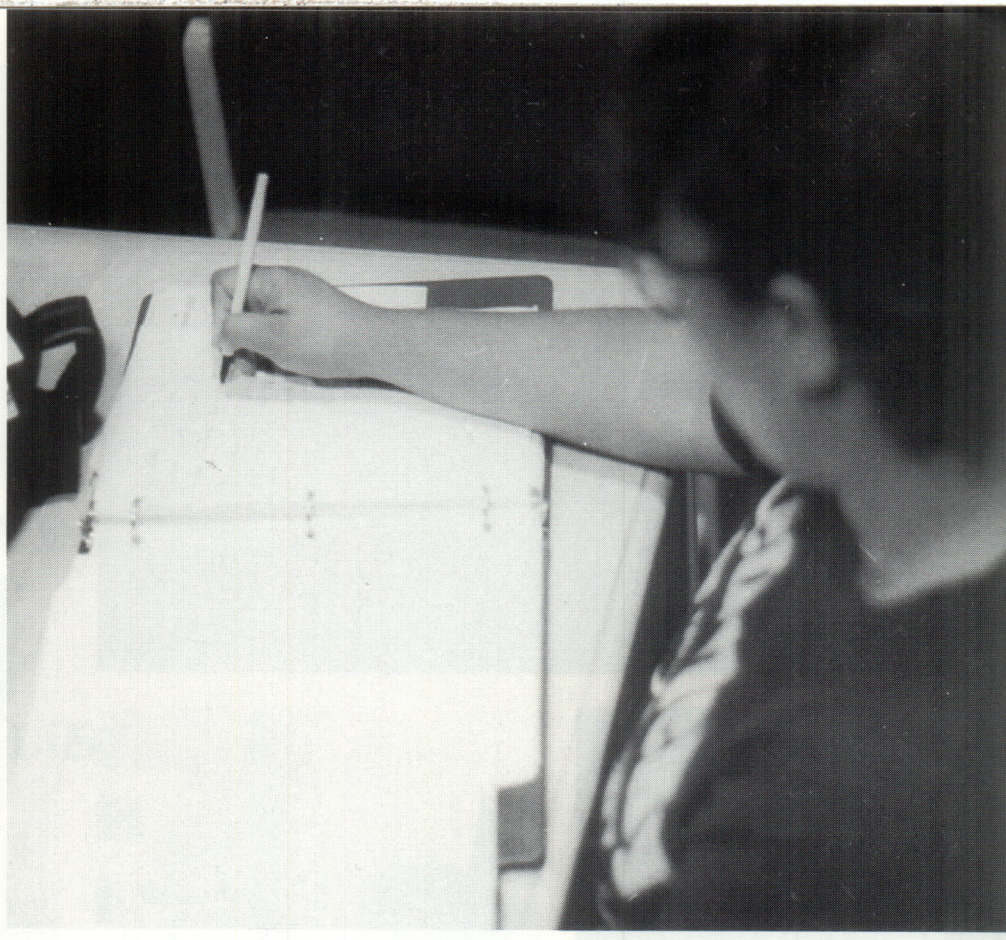

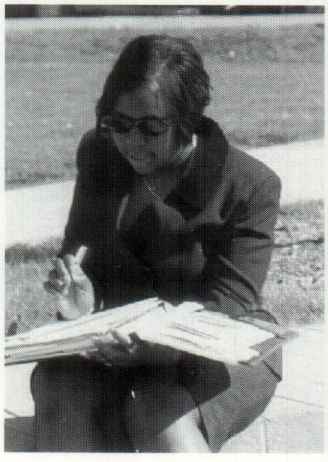

Kentucky State students are always striving to become better people both in the classroom and out.

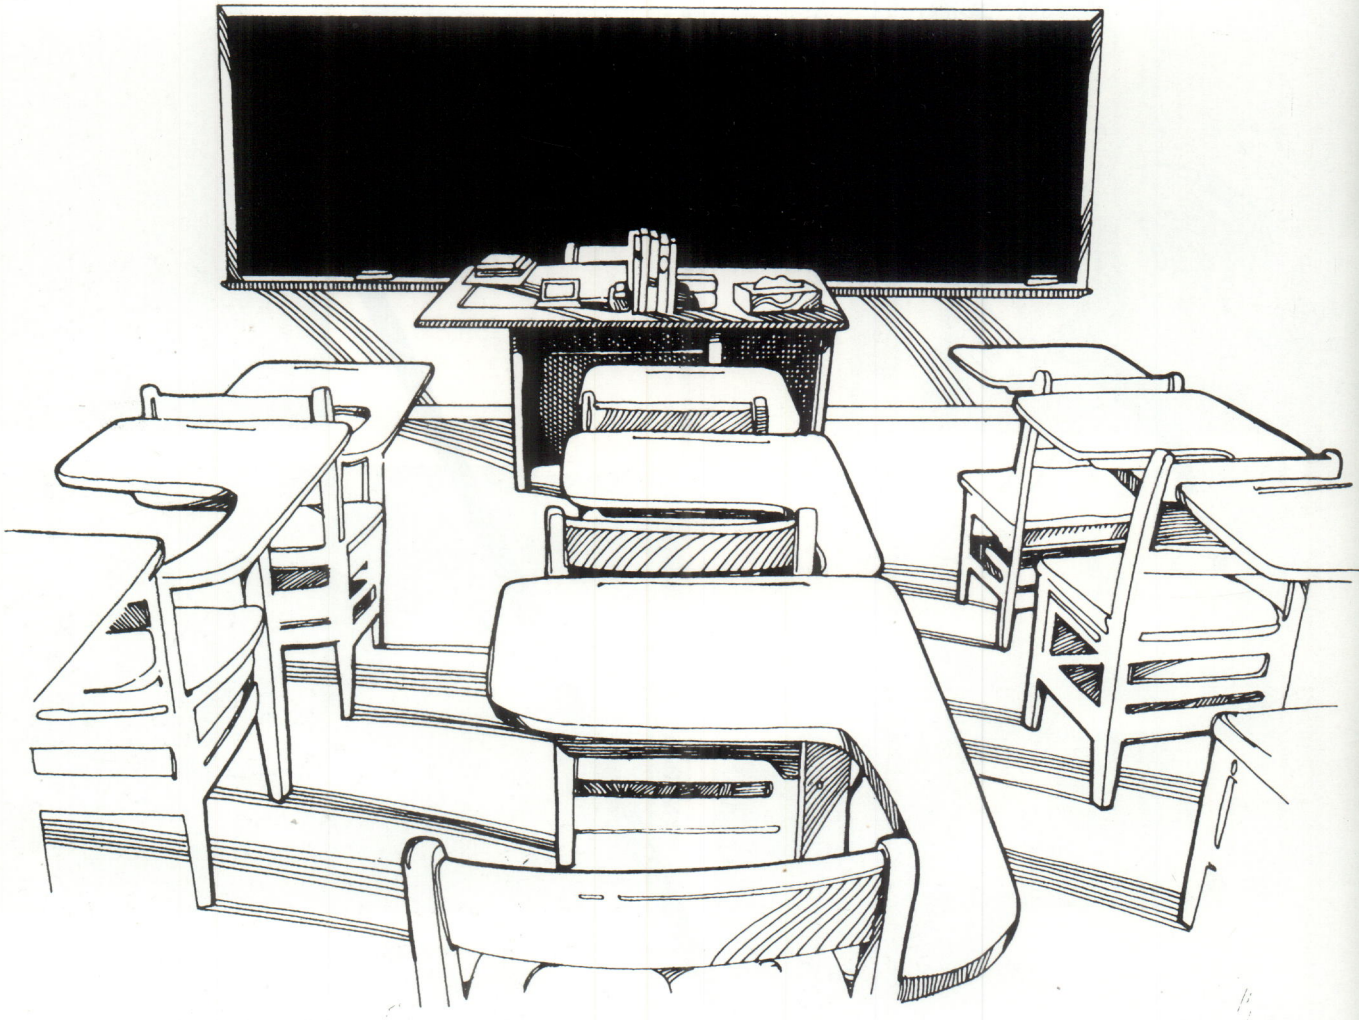

Study, study, study. Somtimes it seems rough throughout the year. Dealing with such stressful things such as research papers, midterm exams and finals can be tedious, but knowing ones own accomplishments is a reward within itself.

VERBS ARE THE MOST IMPORTANT WORDS THAT A WRITER WILL USE. THEY GET THE READER INVOLVED IN THE WRITING AS NO OTHER PART OF SPEECH DOES.
THE WRITTEN WORD IS A POWERFUL INSTRUMENT WITH WHICH THE LIVES OF MANY PEOPLE CAN BE AFFECTED.
GOOD WRITING IS EFFICIENT, PRECISE, CLEAR AND MODEST.

FROM THE EDITOR

Well, once again here it is delivered unto you. It's a tradition as well as a document of history. Your history. It is the annual yearbook. I hope you enjoy your yearbook as well as your time here at this University.

May the Great Creator, God of all be with you always and you with him.

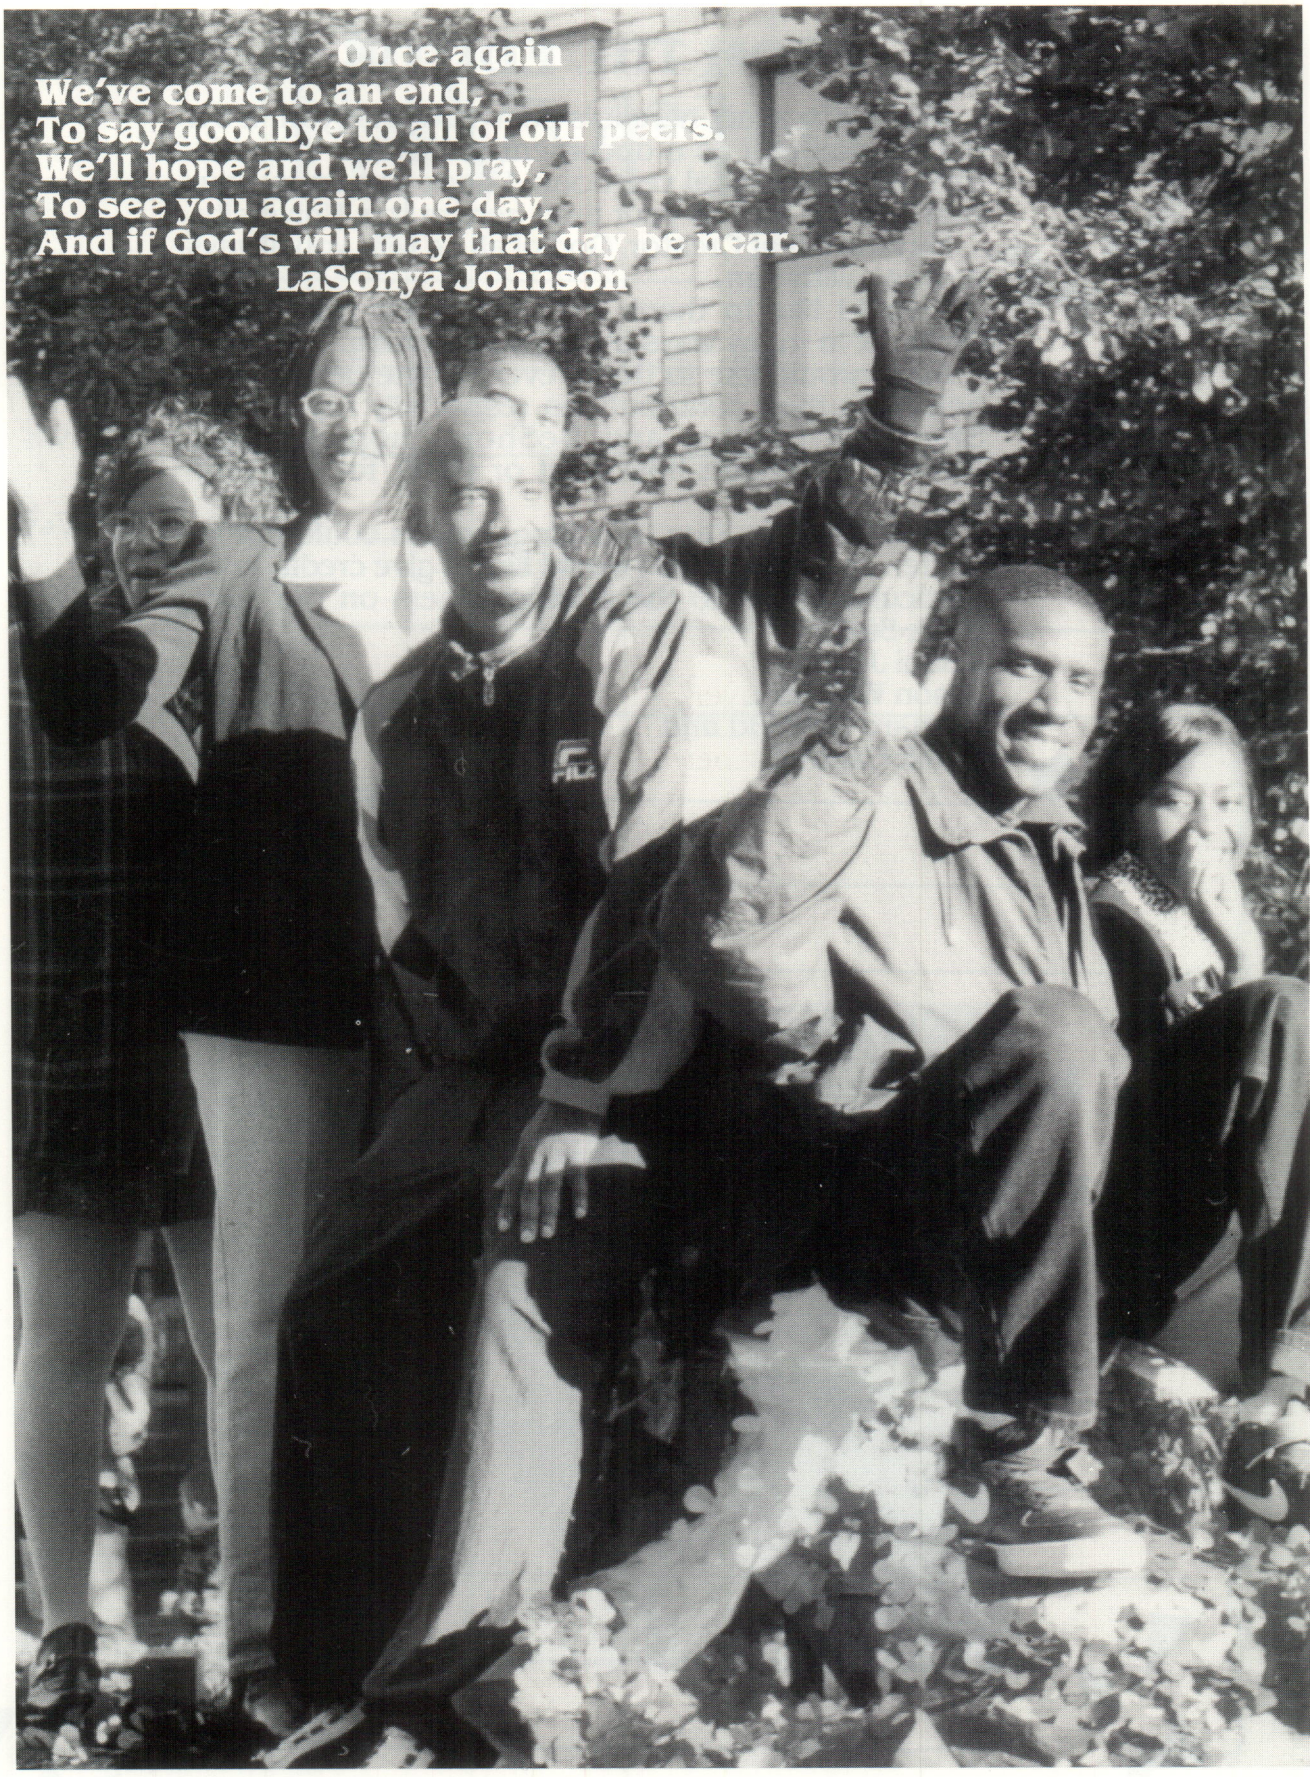

I would like to thank my Creator for this opportunity, & in many ways this was a blessing.

And I would like to thank every single person who helped in their contributions (especially my adviser Sharonda Holmes and DeShon "home-skillet" Cowen), no matter how great or small, for this project.

One last note. Due to editing, credits could not be written as planned. So I would like to give credit (in no particular order) to the photographers on the Yearbook Staff:
Jelani Jones,
Jason Winbush, Reynard Mayfield and
Frank Cantrell

LaSonya Johnson

Once again
We've come to an end,
To say goodbye to all of our peers.
We'll hope and we'll pray,
To see you again one day,
And if God's will may that day be near.
LaSonya Johnson
